Art Unit: 3754

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. Claims 5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Winder 5,489,047. Winder discloses a universal collar that is attached to a container 16 that includes a fluid pump as is the pressurized propellant within the container and is capable of being used with a keyed dispensing system as claimed (note that the keyed dispensing system is not part of the claimed combination, only the collar), with the universal collar including a body 24 with an axial bore surrounding the centerline in figure 6, a first flange 52, a second flange 58, with a keyless portion between the flanges to which is secured container portion 34 that is capable of bypassing a keyed system as claimed, and a recess 46 that receives projections 48 on the upper portion of the container assembly with the recess being located in an axially extending top edge 44 (claim 7).
3. Claims 2 and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by UK 2,088,837. UK discloses a universal collar that is attached to a container 14 used in a dispenser 17 that includes a gravity based fluid pump 26 within the dispenser and is capable of being used with a keyed dispensing system as claimed (note that the keyed dispensing system is not part of the claimed combination, only the collar), with the universal collar including a body as is the assembly shown in the embodiment of figures 1 and 2 or figures 3-5 with an axial bore surrounding the centerline in figures 1 and 3, a first flange 15 or 46, a second flange 11 or 52/54, with a keyless portion between the flanges as claimed that is capable of bypassing a keyed system as claimed, a rib that is forwardly located with respect to the flanges such as the filled in portions between grooves 23 in figure 1 or 64 in figure 3 which ribs will be vertically oriented when the dispenser is in a storage position with the outlet at 30 or 76 facing up, and a recess (Claims 5-7) in flanges 52/54 in figure 3 that mates with projection 56 on the dispenser.

4. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Curie et al. 3,173,579. Curie discloses a universal collar that is attached to a container 16 that includes a gravity based fluid pump as is the sump at 22d within the container and is capable of being used with a keyed dispensing system as claimed (note that the keyed dispensing system is not part of the claimed combination, only the collar), with the universal collar including a body 40 with an axial bore that extends to outlet 47, a first flange 37, a second flange 39, with a keyless portion between the flanges to which is secured dispenser portion 21d that is capable of bypassing a keyed system as claimed, and a recess as is groove 37a that receives a projection of the container 16 into which the container is sealed. It is also noted that Curie also teaches that bag in box dispensers are typically stored with the valve facing up as shown in figures 1 and 5.

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
